Golden Globe Awards CBS, 8 p.m. (live) "[The Critics'] Choice has the right balance of eminence and populist appeal," says Roger Friedman of Variety. "Last year's show was the least serious of all the shows, which is good news for voters." This year, the show is back at the Beverly Hilton Hotel in Beverly Hills, Calif. "The big surprise this year is that, unlike last year, there is a dearth of really big names," says Scott Feinberg of Deadline. "That means the Globes have to be all about the nominees." Linda DeCarlo of the Daily News: "Brett Ratner has bested Michael Douglas, Ryan Coogler and countless other filmmakers for best director, while Kevin Hart will face off against Steven Spielberg for best actor." "At this late date, it is difficult to keep track of the
