The five-judge bench headed by Justice Dipak Misra will take up the Centre's appeal on Friday. Supreme Court is ready to hear the Centre's appeal against the judgement on September 7. An attempt to disrupt the court will be considered as contempt of court. The Supreme Court bench, consisting of Justices RF Nariman, AM Khanwilkar, DY Chandrachud, Indu Malhotra and Ashok Bhushan, had on July 29 pronounced the demolition of the Babri Masjid as illegal and a "crime against humanity". On July 31, the top court had made it clear that it will not hear any revision petitions on the issue and asked the government to place all its papers before the top court. All India Majlis-e-Ittehadul Muslimeen (AIMIM) leader Asaduddin Owaisi, who has been seeking permission to file a petition, has already filed a response, stating that he had filed a response when the case was pending before the apex court. The bench is also dealing with challenges to the implementation of its verdict to grant the Uttar Pradesh government time to construct a Ram temple in Ayodhya. “My wife, my daughter and I were all standing on the pier and watched the first Hells Angels pass by,” recounted Dean Schaeffer. “The sky was painted with streaks of red and blue across the scene.” Since that first ride, Schaeffer has made a career out of taking people on adrenaline-packed rides. That's what he does for fun when he's not working at the Grindstone Cafe.

with either advanced periodontitis or localized alveolar bone loss. Saliva, gingival crevicular fluid, and serum were obtained from 21 subjects with advanced periodontitis and 21 with localized alveolar bone loss at baseline and after 1 and 6 mo of periodontal treatment. Total protein levels, antibody titers, and cytokine concentrations were measured in saliva and gingival crevicular fluid to detect evidence of systemic or localized host responses to bacterial challenge. Using real-time polymerase chain reaction, total bacterial DNA was quantified in saliva to measure changes in the density of the bacterial population over time. The density of A. actinomycetemcomitans increased in all three
