number is 41-499-1314. Petrol will be available at $2.25 a litre for six months

The Federal Government has announced its full petrol subsidy reform policy, which will see all prices below $2.75 per litre to be gradually removed. Minister for Revenue and Financial Services Kelly O'Dwyer said the final price of petrol for motorists would be $2.25 a litre in April next year. "Under the final Petroleum Product Prices and Subsidies Reforms Bill 2019, there will be no further increase in fuel prices above that threshold," she said. The reforms will apply to all fuels including diesel, whitegoods and tyres. It will remove the 24 cent fuel excise refund which was applied to all prices up until the end of 2019. The fuel excise rebate will end in 2020.
