The present invention relates generally to a hinge, and, more particularly, to a hinge assembly which includes a bearing which permits limited pivotal movement of one element relative to another. It is common to mount the door of a refrigerator or freezer appliance to the refrigerator cabinet by means of a hinge. Usually, this hinge is mounted on the door and the cabinet so that the door can pivot from a closed to an open position relative to the cabinet. It is also common to use a second hinge mounted on the cabinet for opening or closing the door which extends generally perpendicularly from the cabinet. The hinge on the door should be constructed to be relatively strong to resist the forces exerted by the door when it is in the closed position against the refrigerator cabinet and to be relatively light in weight to permit ready opening and closing of the door. It is an object of the present invention to provide an improved refrigerator door hinge which is relatively strong and light.

It was hypothesized that the faster right foot tapping would be in the long arm condition, whereas the faster right hand tapping would be in the rotated arms conditions in the rotated limbs condition. The results were in agreement with this hypothesis.Rent your bike and car for the summer If you are planning to ride your bike to school or work and don't want to use public transport, we recommend renting your bike from your local bike hire shop. Once your credit is used up, you can rent another one. You can pay for your next rental with credit or with a real-world credit card.
